GRAND CALIFORNIA RACING.

Here are some expert opinions of the present racing in California from men who know what true racing is and are on the ground:

The racing is first class in every respect, and equal to any I have seen in years. A grand place to winter and I like it very much.—David Gideon.

I was never more surprised. Two beautiful tracks and as good racing as anyone would care to see.—C. H. Pettingill.

Contrary to the reports East, I am surprised to see good betting and first-class racing here. Twenty-four books on and no trouble for me to place all the money I want to bet.—George E. Smith, "Pittsburg Phil."

It is surely the best winter racing ever held in this country. It is certainly very honest and will compare very favorably with any racing in the East.—George Wheelock.

No place adapted for winter racing like this. Both tracks elegant; first-class racing, and the management splendid.—Chas. F. Dwyer.

I find that the racing at the two tracks here is up to the highest standard. For a racing point during the off season in the East, it can not be excelled.—C. R. Grannan.

Racing is as clean and as good as I have seen on any track at any time of the year.—Ed Corrigan.

San Francisco is certainly fortunate in having two such race tracks as Ingleside and Oakland; each complete in every appointment; the racing clean and clear of all scandal.—Frank Ireland.

The racing in California this winter is equal to any given at any race track in the country. The class of horses competing is above the average for winter sport, and the money they run for larger than ever at this season of the year. The tracks in this vicinity are equal to any on the continent, being superb ones to race over, and equipped with all that is needed to make a first class establishment in every respect. Eastern horsemen will soon realize this and make, in the future, California their winter port.—A. H. Daniels.

This is the best racing I have seen in ten years. First class sport and first class betting.—Barney Schreiber.

Unquestionably the city of San Francisco is the desired spot for racing during the winter months. The racing compares favorably with the sport on the Eastern tracks in the height of the summer season.—Harry Harris.

Both tracks elegant. Better racing than I thought would be had in the winter.—P. Dunne.

Two grand tracks. Racing as good as I have seen anywhere in summer.—W. P. Magrane.

Racing first-class. Have seen no better anywhere. Pick the winners and you can get all the money you want.—H. Eugene Leigh.

It is grand racing. Nothing like it anywhere.—Dan Honig.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

There were some noted horsemen in Chicago yesterday. Manager Tipton of the Montana Circuit was here on his way to Montana. So was Secretary H. W. Wilson of the Kentucky Horse Breeders Association and Col. William Edwards of the Cleveland Driving Club.

The first declarations for both the Suburban and Brooklyn are due Saturday. When all are in, prices will be announced on the candidates. The chief Western book will be made by John O'Neil and Frank Eckert.

W. A. Thompson, Detroit, Mich.—In 1884 Barnes, Miss Woodford and George Kinney were each four years of age and raced in the stable of M. F. & P. J. Dwyer, comprising the turf firm of Dwyer Bros.

Charles Hughes' high class stable, of which First Mate, Free Advice and Semper Ego are the stars, will be fitted for its 1897 work at Louisville.
